WHW Proves The Mission is Possible

Santa Ana, California (April 29, 2014) - On Saturday, April 26th, WHW proved that their mission of Empowering Employment Success is indeed possible by raising over $116,000 at their annual fundraising event based on the theme of the 60's television show, Mission Impossible.

Event Operative sponsors, the Tustin Branch of Farmers and Merchants Bank, First Bank, Premiere Business Centers and the Tarsadia Foundation hosted 250 guests at a retro inspired gourmet luncheon and fashion show at The Island Hotel in Newport Beach. Guests donned their own 60s fashions and toasted the over 40,000 clients that WHW has served since 1993, empowering men, women and teens to become economically self-sufficient through employment success.

The event included a silent auction, live auction and guests raising their bid numbers to join Club259, where each $259 pledged will directly support the individual journeys of disadvantaged job seekers. Mission Possible ended with a fashion show featuring clothing and accessories from WHW's retail store Déjà New as the Mission Impossible theme played in the background. Proceeds from the event will support WHW's Employment Success Program which offers comprehensive employment support services at no charge and with no obligation to job seekers looking for a better life.
